DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-4, 12-14, 16, 31, and 32 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4, 1 and 7, 2, 4, 7, 14, and 1 and 14, respectively, of U.S. Patent No. 6,695,878. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both sets of claims describe vascular devices that engage and inwardly contract vessel walls.

Claims 1-17 and 25-30 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-17, 25 and 28, and 26-30, respectively, of copending Application No. 10/011345 (US Pub. No. 2002/0055772). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both sets of claims describe vascular devices that engage and inwardly contract vessel walls.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claims 12-14, and 16 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1-4, respectively, of U.S. Patent No. 7,041,128). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both sets of claims describe vascular systems that use a balloon catheter to move a vascular device from a first to a second expanded position that engages and contracts vessel walls.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 25-28 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Dua et al. (US Pat. No. 6,302,917). Dua et al. discloses a prosthesis with a valve having a conical shape. In response to an increase in pressure, the valve inverts through its structural structure (12) at an angle to the longitudinal axis. Please see Figure 1, the abstract, and col. 2, line 66 through col. 3, line 49

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 29 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dua et al. in view of Wilson et al. (US Pat. No. 6053896). Dua et al. discloses the invention substantially as claimed, however, Dua et al. does not disclose the use of blood drainage openings in the valve. Wilson et al. teaches a ventricular heart valve with these openings in col. 2, lines 42-65 and col. 3, line 66 through col. 4, line 7 for the purpose of relieving excess pressure. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use these openings in order to relieve excess pressure.

Claim Objections

Claim 33 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see Arguments/Remarks, filed 3/20/2008, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-17 and 31-33 under Frazier et al. (US Pat. No. 6,231,561) have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of the double patenting rejections described above.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 25-30 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
